Ike Asks Women To Vote

Appeals To Them 'To Correct The Things That Are Wrong With Us'

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower appealed to the women of America today to throw themselves into the presidential campaign "to correct the things that are wrong with us."

The GOP presidential nominee's appeal to the women voters was made before a cheering crowd estimated at 9,000 gathered at the Tampa ball park.

Tampa followed the lead of Atlanta, Jacksonville and Miami in giving Eisenhower a rousing welcome on his sweep across Dixie that has been booming in such spectacular fashion.

"I am anxious to draw the spirit of women into the campaign I am trying to wage," Eisenhower said after he had been introduced by GOP National Committeewoman Mrs. Helen Lieb.

For Spirit of Forefathers

Standing under a broiling sun on a bunting-draped platform at home plate, Eisenhower declared "We must recall the spiritual and moral values of our forefathers" in government.

He said he referred to the situation in Washington as a "mess" because "that's what the opposition calls it."

"There is a difference between the two parties," Eisenhower said. "One is saddled with the mess. The other wants to clean it up."

Then he paid tribute to the civil service workers and said they must "hang their heads in shame" when they realize "that justice has been outraged in their agencies."

Turning to Webster's definition of the word mess, Eisenhower said it dealt mostly with food. But then he said:

Defines "Mess" Meaning
"Mess can mean a confused, inharmonious, disagreeable mixture of things, a medley, a hodgepodge, a situation resulting from blunder or misunderstanding. A muddle, a botch."

Eisenhower urged the people to take part in their local politics to have influence in their government and in naming the kind of government they want.

"I am down here," he said, "to help, if I can, make certain there are two parties in the South." This statement brought cheers and applause from the crowd.

"Don't you be taken for granted," he said. "Please make every single individual who wants to serve you in public office come before you and say what's in his heart and mind. Don't let him take you for granted."

The reception given to Ike along his route posed the question of just how solid the Democratic South will be in the November election.

Cheered by South
Eisenhower told his cheering listeners in his call for a two-party system in the customarily Democratic South:

"Every phone call I've had since yesterday morning, every telegram, every note given to my car, every word spoken to my staff and me in the great Southland is, 'We're ready to help. We're not captive people.'"

Eisenhower spoke for 27 minutes and was perspiring in streams when he finished.

The GOP presidential nominee was drawing huge crowds at every stop along his campaign route. But none could say whether it was due to personal charm or political appeal — or a combination of the two.

About 150,000 persons turned out to greet Eisenhower yesterday in Atlanta, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla., and here in Miami.

The thousands who heard Eisenhower speak burst into cheers and rebel yells when he accused the Truman administration of trying to cover up a "mess" of crime and corruption.

Calls for Honesty
They cheered when he called for "common woodshed honesty" in government, and deplored the "whole sordid story" of corruption in the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

They applauded heavily when he said it wasn't enough to "administrate and that's it. No change of goods in the showcase can make the rotten goods back in the warehouse any better."

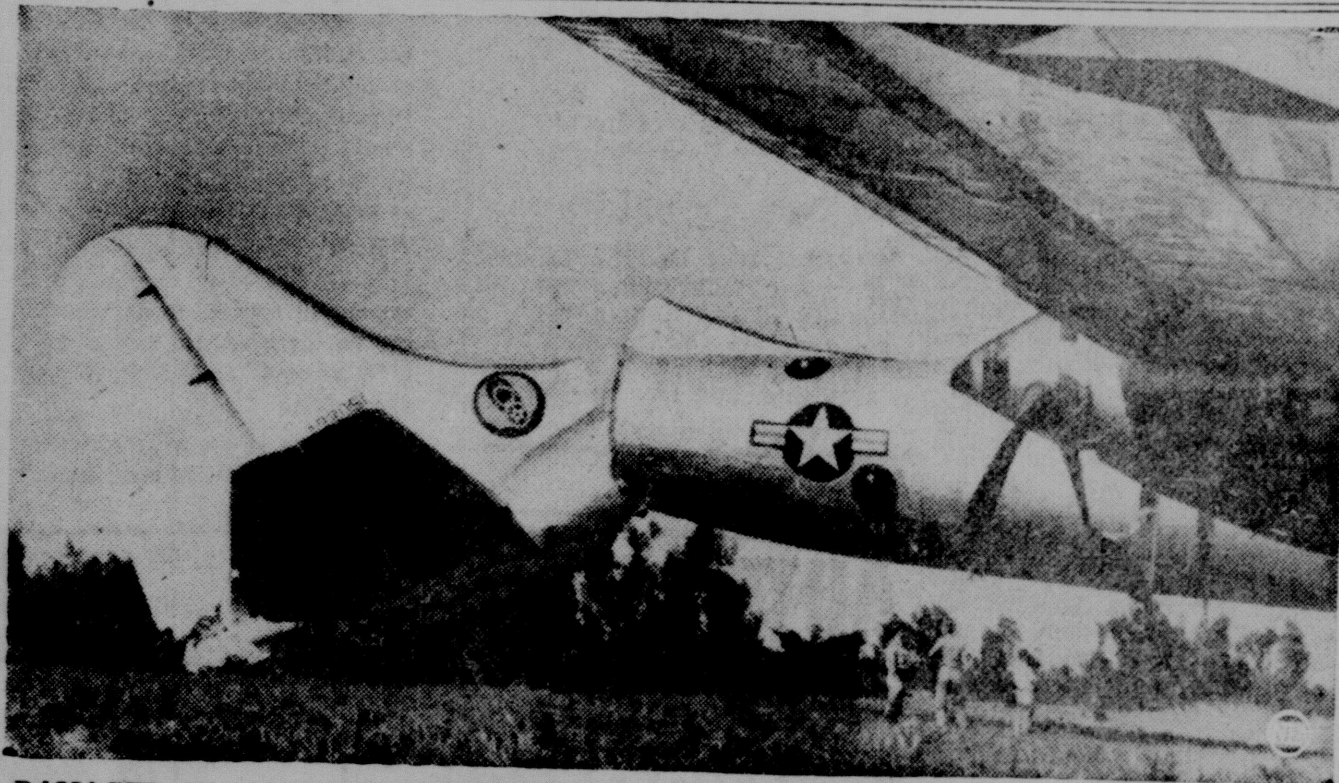

And the harder he whiplashed the Democratic leadership in Washington, the better his listeners seemed to like it, if their applause was any measure.

King Farouk Holds $25 Millions Worth Of Foreign Property

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The pro-Western newspaper Al Misri quoted custodians of ex-King Farouk's holdings today as saying the exiled Egyptian monarch owns about nine million Egyptian pounds—$25,830,000—worth of property abroad and needs no financial aid from Egypt.

The amount of cash Farouk may have on deposit outside Egypt is not known but it has been estimated as high as one million pounds ($2,370,000).

Farouk told newsmen after he arrived on the Isle of Capri to be a comparatively poor man. He said he had not taken a fortune out of Egypt and no fortune stored up outside his native land.

DAMAGED IN "GROUND" FLIGHT—The props and tail section of this B-36 Superbomber were damaged when the big plane was tossed by a gale which struck the Carswell Air Force Base at Ft. Worth, Tex. Wind tossed planes and other equipment at the base was estimated at $10,000,000. (NEA TELEPHOTO)

Council Approves Mayor Studer's Committee to Study Bus Changes

By D. Kelly Scruton

The Sedalia City Council Tuesday, in one of its longest meetings in years, agreed to support a proposal by Mayor Herb Studer to appoint a fact-finding board to investigate the bus situation in Sedalia.

The council chamber was packed with citizens protesting the action of the Sedalia Bus Co., cancelling night bus service, bus service on Sundays and holidays and the 24th Street and North Osage route. Fifteen persons in the audience spoke against the curtailment of bus service.

The Council voted to have Mayor Studer forward a letter to Marvin Howard notifying him officially that he had violated his franchise with the City of Sedalia to operate busses.

Mayor's Letter Approved
The letter which Mayor Studer read to the Council for its approval is as follows:

"September 2, 1952
"Marvin and Olen Howard
"d/b/a Sedalia Bus Company
"Gentlemen:

"By action of your Company in reducing your hours of bus service, which was effective August 31, 1952, you have hereby violated the franchise between the City of Sedalia, Missouri and the Sedalia Bus Company.

"Under Ordinance Number 3546, Section 4, the City Council must approve any change of routes by ordinance. Section 5 of the same Ordinance provides that the hours of service shall be such as will provide reasonable, adequate transportation service on each route. The discontinuation of buses to operate on Sundays is in keeping with reasonable, adequate transportation. This also applies to the lack of transportation service after 7:00 o'clock p. m.

"This letter is being written to inform you, officially, that Ordinance No. 3546, Sections 4 and 5, have been violated and that if corrections of these services are set forth in the Ordinance, are not made within sixty days from this date, then, and at that time, the Council by their action may declare the franchise void.

"As I have said before, this letter is to serve as your official notice of the various steps that may be taken by the City Council.

"Yours very truly,
"HERB E. STUDER,
"Mayor."

After a pro and con discussion of the action of Howard in curtailing the bus service, Mayor Studer then offered a plan as a step toward finding a solution.

Studer Statement
"There is a great deal of public interest in the reduction of the Bus service by the Sedalia Bus Company. I am told by the owners of the Bus Company that under the present franchise, their business is not profitable, and that they have suffered a considerable financial loss.

"Under Ordinance 3546, the Bus Company is required to make application to the City Council for any reduction in schedules. This, of course, was not done and therefore the Bus Company is in direct violation of this Ordinance. There are many people and families in this community, who have to depend upon the Bus Company to take them to and from work, their churches, their recreation, etc., and it is up to the city officials, by their obligation of office to see that the most adequate transportation facilities are available. The reduction of hours will work a hardship on many of our people and certainly some satisfactory solution to this problem must be found.

Notified of Violation
The Bus Company has been officially notified that they have violated the Ordinance, and have been informed of the action the Council may take. It would be sixty (60) days before the Council could void their franchise, and in the meantime the public would suffer from lack of transportation during certain hours. I do not want to place myself in a position of demanding any company to operate at a loss, however, at the same time I strongly feel that the people of this community are entitled to better transportation service. I am sure that there are two sides to this problem, and I also feel that a satisfactory solution can be worked out that will not work a hardship on the people or the Bus Company.

"In an effort to arrive at some solution of the differences existing between the City officials and the owners of the Sedalia Bus Company, I therefore propose to name, a fact-finding board of the following representative citizens:

Rev. Warren Neal, Broadway Presbyterian Church.
Rev. Father A. J. Brunswick of Sacred Heart Church.

Mr. Forrest Drake, principal of Smith-Cotton High School.
Mr. Jack Cunningham, president of Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Earl Paxton, president of Federated Sales Crafts.
Mrs. Lucille White, president of Business and Professional Women's Club.

Mr. Norbert Brosch, representing downtown unions.
Mr. Paul Hedderich, Sedalia merchant.

Asbury Good-Knight, Among Best Known Pettis Men, Dies

Asbury Good-Knight, one of Pettis County's oldest and most familiar personages, is dead.

The end came at 4:50 p. m. Tuesday in his old home, four miles southeast of Sedalia, where he spent all but two of the 92 years of his life and where in late years he took unusual interest in showing visitors his collection of relics and antiques he had assembled during many decades.

Interested in community affairs and betterment for the county, he took an active part in politics, being a candidate several times for nomination to public office, but failed in general election to achieve his aim. He was a staunch Democrat and felt it his duty, like he would have others do, to participate in all elections and exercise the right of ballot on candidates or constitutional provisions that were put before the voters for action.

Through the years he devoted much time to disseminating knowledge that was calculated to bring understanding of the history of the region in and around Sedalia.

Mr. Good-Knight a few years ago gave to the Missouri State Fair a goodly part of his collection of antiques including a cannonball, which he said was one of several taken when Southern General Thompson invaded this area during the Civil War. There was a wicked looking dirk, which he claimed was flourished by Jesse James, who headed the robbers staging the holdup of a Missouri Pacific train at Ottumville cut many years ago. Included were pioneer boots, held together with wooden pegs, also poisoned arrows used by the Blackhawk Indians when on the warpath. There was a beautifully designed picture fashioned from locks of human hair, ancient maps showing the United States when the western territory was just that—no states yet formed in the section. Spinning wheels, earthenware, countless numbers of arrowheads, left by him for his personal collection. Many other antiques and early records were offered by him to the Sedalia Public Library and county.

Mr. Good-Knight, up to a few years ago, did not hesitate to start to Sedalia from his home, often walking the bare distance to look after business or secure supplies for his home.

Mr. Good-Knight was highly meticulous about the spelling of his name, wanting it to appear all ways "Good-Knight." He contended that all the Good-Knights were related in some way and he deplored the fact that many of them dropped the "K" in its common usage.

Mr. Good-Knight, son of Napoleon Bonaparte Good-Knight and Elizabeth Hathaway Good-Knight, remained a bachelor through his entire lifetime. He was born Dec. 5, 1859 in Pettis County. His brother, Sherman Good-Knight, who made his home with him for a considerable time, died in January 1947. The grandfather of Mr. Good-Knight migrated from Germany and settled in Kentucky in 1780, moving to Pettis County in 1833. His grandfather's father was a captain in the Revolutionary War for seven years.

Surviving him are a cousin, Gilbert Good-Knight, Buffalo Center, Ia., who had been here for the past two weeks with him, and a niece, Mrs. Bessie B. Brevedore, Postoffice R. 232 Seal Beach, Calif., and a number of cousins.

In addition to the brother Sherman, another brother, Hadley, and two sisters, Comfort and Rosetta, preceded him in death.

The body was taken to the McLaughlin Funeral Chapel where funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday, with the Rev. Carl Opp to officiate.

Mrs. M. O. Stevens and Mrs. Carl Opp will sing, with Miss Lillian Fox at the organ.

Burial will be in the Good-Knight Cemetery southeast of Sedalia.

Warrensburg Boy Kept Alive When Iron Lung Fails

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A 12-year-old polio victim appeared no worse today from an ordeal that had his mother and father and several nurses desperately hand pumping an iron lung that failed last night.

Vernon McGraw of Warrensburg, Mo., who is suffering from the spinal-bulbar type of polio, had been resting the respirator several hours. The big iron lung apparently had been working all right before it stopped suddenly at 5 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McGraw, parents of the boy, were visiting at the time of the failure and they joined nurses in taking a turn at hand operating the lung.

A technician from General Hospital got the lung back in working gear, but it broke down again a short time later.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis succeeded in moving another lung from General Hospital to Mercy to end the crisis.

ASBURY GOOD-KNIGHT in a meditative mood and restful pose at his old home southeast of Sedalia, where all but two of his 92 years of life were spent. He often related to old timers, and younger ones who called at various times, outstanding incidents of his long career.

No Adlai Attack Answers

His Record Slapped By Republicans, But There Are No Indications of Reply

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Adlai Stevenson, drafting a major speech on farm policy, made no immediate reply today to a direct attack on his record in office in Illinois, and there were no indications that he planned an answer.

His strategy, a campaign lieutenant said, will be to ignore Republican accusations and concentrate on a series of "foundation speeches" to set forth his views on what he considers the major issues.

Stevenson's assistants had no comment on a speech last night by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois before the Federation of Illinois Women's Republican Clubs.

The Republican senator, speaking within a stone's throw of the governor's office in Springfield, asserted:

Based On Gambling Record
"Illinois leads all the states in the union for the gambling racket. When it comes to cleaning up corruption, I'm not very much impressed by Stevenson's record."

It was the most concerted attack to be leveled at Stevenson since he became the Democratic candidate for the presidency.

A member of his staff said, "I doubt if he even knows what Dirksen said, let alone making any plans to reply."

Instead of answering Republican attacks, Stevenson will concentrate on "getting the country acquainted with his views," one of his aides said. The defense of the Democratic administration will be left mainly to President Truman, for the time being at least, his headquarters indicated.

For New Labor Policy
The governor already has presented his views, in New York, on civil rights, and in Detroit he came out against the Taft-Hartley Act, advocating a broad new labor law to replace it.

The farm policy speech comes next, his campaign leaders said. He is expected to deliver it Saturday at the National Plowing Contest in Kasson, Minn. From there his route will take him through Wyoming and Montana to the Pacific Coast. In a series of speeches in the West he plans to expand further the program to be presented at Kasson.

A group of officers of the Committee for Agricultural Progress were in Springfield today for conferences with the governor on the agriculture policy speech.

Sees Agriculture Officials
Among them was John S. Watson, Petaluma, Calif., agricultural consultant to the Democratic Platform Committee. Watson is state chairman of the Committee for Agricultural Progress. The others were Alfred R. Barnes of Huron, S. D., and Ben Stong and Robert E. Allen of Chicago.

Stevenson's office declined to specify exactly what he will say when he outlines his views on agriculture. He has repeatedly stated, however, his support of the Democratic party platform, and at the Illinois State Fair last month, he said that the farm plank is "not socialized agriculture."

Acheson Will Speak In Reply to GOP Charges On Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson indicated today he will speak out formally in reply to Republican criticism of administration foreign policy.

At a news conference, Acheson made it plain in answering questions that he disagrees with Republicans who claim the U. S. foreign policy is mainly one of "containment" of Russia with nothing positive to back it up.

Asked whether his reply might be delivered in Kansas City, where he is scheduled for an address next Tuesday, Acheson said that it might but that at present it was just an ambition of his.

Approval Given Miss Gray's Plan for Fellowship Study

Miss Hazel Gray, teacher at Smith-Cotton High School and a member of the faculty of the Sedalia school system for 30 years, has received approval and the monetary grant for her one-year fellowship under The Fund for the Advancement of Education of the Ford Foundation.

One of 400 high school teachers in the United States selected to participate in the program for self-betterment by the Ford Foundation, Miss Gray will attend four universities during the current school year while on leave of absence from her position here.

Sedalia was first selected as one of the schools to participate in the program and then a committee, following the recommendation of Supt. Heber Hunt, named Miss Gray as the local teacher to take part.

She outlined her own program for self-betterment and submitted it and the financial budget to the Foundation for approval. Now that the okay has been given, and the funds authorized, she will leave soon to begin the first part of her year's training.

Included in the fellowship is an award of $4,200, tax free. This includes $3,000 as salary and $1,200 as incidental expenses for transportation, tuition and fees and a cost-of-living adjustment. Part of the transportation is a trip back to Sedalia at Christmas for her usual Yule vacation period at home.

Half of the money will be paid Sept. 15 and the other half on Jan. 15.

Miss Gray will go first to Orono, Me., to attend the University of Maine for nine weeks. She will then go to Washington, D. C. for a nine weeks course of study at George Washington University. She will be in the capital for the inauguration.

From Washington, she will go to the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque for another nine weeks and then will spend the last nine weeks at State College of Washington, Pullman, Wash.

In each locality she will study the history and literature of the area.

More, Better Air Fields In New Plans

President Orders Program Into Effect To Strengthen U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman today ordered into immediate effect a long-range program aimed at giving the United States more and better air fields.

The program was embodied in recommendations made to the President by a special commission headed by James H. Doolittle, World War Two flying hero. The commission was set up shortly after three air disasters occurred in rapid-fire succession at Elizabeth, N. J.

Embodied in the recommendations were these key provisions:

1. Airports should be given a major role in community planning and air fields should be integrated with other modes of transportation.

2. Air fields should be moved closer to the cities they serve. The Doolittle commission said they should be no further than 40 minutes driving time for the heart of a city.

3. No new airport should be planned without clear, level areas at least 1,000 feet wide and at least half a mile long beyond each end of the main runways.

4. Zoning laws should be set up for protecting approaches to airports against construction of buildings for at least two miles in fan-shaped areas at least 6,000 feet wide at the outer ends.

5. Government appropriations for airport improvements should be increased substantially.

6. Helicopters and other forms of air taxi service should be set up between airports and cities.

The White House announced that the President has directed four federal agencies to begin putting the Doolittle commission recommendations into immediate effect.

These agencies are headed by the secretary of defense, the secretary of commerce, the postmaster general and the chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Hurricane Still In Open Seas, Races 140 mph.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Gusts of wind estimated at 140 miles per hour were reported today in the severe Atlantic hurricane swirling northward in open ocean 800 miles east of Miami.

The weather bureau said the tropical disturbance probably would continue the present course for the next 12 hours, "with possible intensification."

Forward speed was estimated by a hurricane hunting plane at 12 to 14 miles per hour.

Savage sustained winds of 115 miles per hour were registered near the center of the severe storm.

All shipping in the path of the hurricane—the second of the season—was told to get out of the way in a hurry.

Half of the money will be paid Sept. 15 and the other half on Jan. 15.

Miss Gray will go first to Orono, Me., to attend the University of Maine for nine weeks. She will then go to Washington, D. C. for a nine weeks course of study at George Washington University. She will be in the capital for the inauguration.

From Washington, she will go to the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque for another nine weeks and then will spend the last nine weeks at State College of Washington, Pullman, Wash.

In each locality she will study the history and literature of the area.

Nevada Election Upset

Political Unknown Unseats McCarran's Choice As Nominee For U. S. Senate

RENO (AP) — In a stunning David and Goliath drama, an unknown young newspaperman today pulled the political upset of Nevada history. His opponent conceded defeat.

With about 98 percent of yesterday's primary election vote counted, lanky Tom Meachling, 31, was leading Sen. Pat McCarran's hand picked candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination by 699 votes—with only about 500 more to be counted.

An unofficial tabulation early today gave Meachling 15,777 votes to 15,078 for Alan Bible, 42, Nevada's widely liked former attorney general.

Now Meets Sen. Malone
The Democratic nominee will try in November to oust Republican Sen. George Malone, who easily won renomination.

Meachling is a soft-spoken, boyish looking former newsman, who until seven months ago worked in Washington, D. C., with Kiplinger Newsletter and the San Francisco Chronicle's capital bureau.

Bible has long been looked upon as a lawyer with a brilliant political future in Nevada. He was considered by many as the ultimate successor to the 76-year-old McCarran.

McCarran personally campaigned for Bible, something he never publicly had done for any other candidate.

Another political youngster, Reno Attorney Clifton Young, 30, also scored an upset. He defeated Sam Arentz, 40, Pinche mining executive for the GOP nomination to Congress. Arentz' father, the late Sam, Sr., held Nevada's only house seat in the 1920s.

Young An Ike Backer
Young campaigned against the party's old guard, which Arentz was identified. Young was one of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's earliest supporters; Arentz favored Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio.

The nearly complete count gave Young 9,402 and Arentz 8,379. Incumbent Rep. Walter Baring easily won Democratic renomination.

Meachling is one of a very few who ever seriously damaged the McCarran prestige in Nevada. McCarran has been the dominant figure in Nevada politics almost since he was elected in 1932.

The elderly senator seldom supported the Roosevelt or Truman administrations, however, and there had been increasing criticism among many Nevada Democratic leaders that McCarran was too conservative.

Wife Aided Meachling
Meachling and his pretty dark-eyed wife, Margaret, made political capital of that. Margaret, a Nevada native, formerly was a stenographer for McCarran.

The Meachlings conducted a door-to-door campaign the way of which Nevada had never seen. Meachling aimed his campaign more at McCarran than at Bible.

Bible supporters protested loudly that Meachling was a brash young upstart with no knowledge of Nevada problems.

The newsmen acknowledged he only came to the state last February. But he added that he was stationed in Nevada with the army in World War II and has nearly 10 years.

Bible has no military record. Meachling boosters pointed that out.

When Meachling announced he had saved $7,000 and was going to run for the U. S. Senate there were belly laughs in all quarters.

"Didn't Have a Chance"
Political observers told him he didn't have a chance.

Meachling, a native of Denver and an honor graduate of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, replied:

"Or lose, at least I think I will have done something toward better government. What I saw up close of self-serving politicians in Washington made me mad—mad enough to jump down out of the press gallery and into politics with both feet."

Final Concert Of Season Will Be Thursday Eve

The last concert of the season by Kroenke's Concert Band will be presented at 8 p. m. Thursday at Liberty Park under the direction of H. H. Kroenke.

The program follows:
"Laurels of Victory," march, by H. J. Wood.

Hearing Held In Case Filed Against Prosecuting Attorney

A hearing was held in the Circuit Court Tuesday afternoon before Circuit Judge Sam Blair in a case which was filed by Earl Manley, Dresden, against Harold Bamberg, acting prosecuting attorney. The affidavit, which was filed by Manley's attorney William F. Brown, alleged non-performance of official duty by the local prosecuting attorney's office.

The trial resulted from an alleged assault between the plaintiff and State Trooper Earl Gregory at the scene of an accident near Dresden on June 21, when Gregory allegedly injured Manley in an incident which came about during an argument over who would remove one of the cars at the accident. Manley, who runs a garage and wrecker service at Dresden went to the prosecuting attorney's office the morning of the purported attack and asked Bamberg to file an assault charge against the patrolman. Bamberg did not file the charges on the grounds that the matter was up to the discretion of his office and that, in his opinion, no crime had been committed by the police officer.

Later, after an unsuccessful attempt to file the charge in the Magistrate Court himself, Manley filed an affidavit in the Circuit Court asking for the special prosecutor to see whether Bamberg had fulfilled the duties of his office in refusing to file against Gregory.

The first witness for the plaintiff in the hearing which was set for 1 p.m. Tuesday afternoon was Dr. Kenneth L. Holdren, 500 South Quincy, who testified that he treated Manley the morning of June 21, for scratched wounds on his neck and a skinned left arm.

Whitfield Testifies
R. B. Whitfield, Dresden, who was at the accident when the alleged assault was reported to have taken place, told the court that the owners of the two cars had told Manley to tow them off the highway and soon after a wrecker from Sedalia owned by George Chamberlin, arrived at the scene to "haul off" one of the cars. Later Whitfield said he heard a woman scream and then he saw the trooping Manley to the highway.

He also testified that the condition of the man's clothes was "pretty well messed up."

In the cross examination Whitfield said that he had received a letter from the prosecuting attorney's office asking him to get in touch with the office and give information on the incident, which he failed to do.

Fred Whitfield, Dresden, who was also at the scene of the accident, said that he did not see the incident, but that he saw the trooper and Manley talking and then Manley was on his head and shoulders in the highway. He also said he called at the prosecuting attorney's office after receiving a letter. Later he said he saw Manley shaking his finger, but did not say to whom.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Cundiff had as out-of-town guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bartles and family from Wichita, Kan. Afternoon visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Lovell Cundiff.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williams of Warrensburg spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Adams. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schroeder and son of Kansas City and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Williams and son were also guests.

Two other witnesses testified, and then Manley, himself, was brought to the witness stand. He told the court that he had turned both cars involved in the wreck right side up and then described his injuries. He described the alleged attack to the court in which he said that after talking with Gregory he turned and was attacked from the back.

He said that after the incident he went to Sedalia where he went to the prosecuting attorney's office and was told by Bamberg that he could do nothing about it.

Gregory Gives His Version
Following Manley the first witness for Bamberg was called. The witness, State Trooper Earl Gregory, said he helped load the injured in an ambulance after he arrived at the scene of the accident and then called the Chamberlin wrecker of Sedalia to tow away one of the cars. Then he gave his version of the incident. He said he had told Manley repeatedly to leave the scene and finally pushed him. He said Manley raised his hands (he didn't know whether Manley was going to strike or resist him) and then he put an arm across Manley's chest, stepped behind him and pulled Manley to the pavement.

Then he told of ordering Manley to leave and after completing an investigation of the accident he himself left for Sedalia.

George Chamberlin, 1213 East Broadway, described to the court what happened after he arrived at the scene of the accident and told that he towed one of the cars into Sedalia.

As the final witness for Bamberg, the acting prosecuting attorney placed himself on the witness stand and told his version in narrative form. In his testimony he related that he told Manley that he knew the officer involved in the scuffle and found it hard to believe that he had actually committed assault. He further stated that Manley said he would see a lawyer and he told him that was the thing to do.

Bamberg also read an opinion from the attorney general's office which said that it was the duty of the prosecuting attorney to protect the innocent as well as prosecute the guilty. Bamberg also told of the investigation he had made of the incident which led him to believe there were no grounds for filing a charge against Gregory.

Following Bamberg's testimony Judge Blair recessed court for five minutes. After court resumed Brown cross-examined Bamberg, during which they discussed the merits of the law surrounding the case.

Two more witnesses were Sgt. Charles Homan of the Sedalia Police Department and Charles Redding, Beaman, who were at the police station when George Chamberlin visited there after the incident. Both men testified that Chamberlin had stated that Gregory hit Manley and one said he also added Manley received what he was asking for.

With the testimony completed Judge Blair said that he would take the case under advisement and that he would be in Sedalia on Monday, Sept. 8, and he might or might not have made a decision at that time.

Donnie Knight To Hospital For Third Time

CENTRALIA, Ill. — Donnie Knight is back in the hospital fighting for breath and life, and facing another hospital birthday. It's nothing new to him. At 13, he's known as many hospital birthdays as birthdays at home.

When he was six, Donnie was left with permanently impaired breathing by an attack of bulbar poliomyelitis. He spent years in St. Anthony's Hospital in St. Louis, and won that fight with the help of an iron lung.

Two years ago he was allowed to return home for his birthday. While a younger brother pushed his wheelchair, Donnie fell out and broke his left leg. Shock and complications nearly halted his breathing and he went back to the hospital.

He won his fight for life again and returned home to live with his parents and five brothers and sisters.

But a similar accident Sunday, tipping him out of his wheelchair, resulted in fractures of both legs.

"Well, Donnie boy," said his mother, "here we go again."

The plucky youngster is back in St. Anthony's hospital today, "resting pretty well," and facing the almost certain prospect that he will still be there Oct. 30 when he will be 14.

Nixon Plans To Dwell On 'Corruption'

ROCKLAND, Me. — Sen. Richard M. Nixon moves on through Maine today on a campaign kickoff tour, pledged to make "Communist subversion and corruption" in government "the theme of every speech from now until the election."

The Republican vice presidential candidate began last night in Bangor what he announced as "the most intensive campaign in the history of America politics."

As he spoke, Republican presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower opened in Atlanta, Ga., what Nixon said would be a fighting campaign for election and a chance to clean up "the mess in Washington."

Nixon, presented by a toastmaster as "the nemesis of Alger Hiss and other such miscreants," will wind up his second day of Maine campaigning with a Sanford address tonight. Before then, he will have spoken to Rockland and Auburn-Lewiston audiences. He is traveling by chartered plane.

"I had hoped, frankly," Nixon said, at Bangor, "that Communist subversion in the United States would not be an issue in the campaign. I had supposed we were all against communism."

"But Mr. Stevenson has raised the issue. He has made light of the Communist threat. He has demonstrated a shocking lack of understanding of this deadly serious matter."

"He has referred to it not as a 'red herring' but as a phantom in our midst."

"In Augusta on Saturday night, I am going to talk about the Communist 'phantoms' and what they have done. I think you will be surprised."

Nixon told a press conference he would name names when and if it became necessary in discussing the administration's record. He however will deal in names and especially will avoid direct references to Stevenson and Sparkman. The 39-year-old Navy veteran told a cheering Bangor audience of 800 he will campaign on the record of the Truman administration.

"We can anticipate charges of smear, hatching and name-calling as we delve into the administration's sorry record," he said, "so let's get one thing straight right now:

"If the record itself smears, let it smear. If the dry rot of corruption and communism, which has eaten deep into our body politic during the past seven years, can only be chopped out with a hatchet — then let's call for at hatchet."

almost certain prospect that he will still be there Oct. 30 when he will be 14.

Optimists Told Many Deaths Due to Cancer

J. W. Ficklin, Columbia, district chairman of the Missouri division of the American Cancer Society, was the principal speaker at the Tuesday noon luncheon of the Optimist Club. Immediately following the luncheon Charles Hanna, president, turned the program over to Lee Deason, program chairman, who in turn introduced Mr. Ficklin.

The speaker stated that in Pettis County alone 57 persons died from cancer in 1950 as against a figure of 68 for 1951. "Cancer stands today," stated the speaker, "as our greatest killer, with a possibility that some 22,000,000 Americans now living will die of cancer." The speaker went on, "of 220,000 Americans who died of cancer last year, one-half of that number need not have died."

Ficklin outlined the fact that it is the purpose of the American Cancer Society to educate, with every means at hand, the American public to the dangers of cancer, hoping that once aroused they will be examined at the first danger signal, and possibly catch the disease in time.

Mr. Ficklin also stated that the cancer hospital at Columbia, which is for research purposes, and having as patients those who cannot afford treatment, constitutes a training school for physicians, in which they can learn how to diagnose and treat cancer. Pettis County had 24 patients treated in this hospital in 1950, and 42 patients treated there last year. Last year at the hospital, 7813 treatments were given and 1018 operations were performed. At present the waiting period for new patients desiring admittance is 15 days, as against an earlier waiting period of 27 days. "Time is of the essence," stated the speaker in closing, "and if you have something wrong with you, don't delay—see your doctor today."

Byrd Staying Out of Fight

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Regardless of how he feels about the presidential election, Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) apparently has no intention of taking part in any third party movement.

There hasn't been any word so far on the presidential choice of the senior Virginia senator, a member of the Truman administration and a Virginia delegate to the Democratic National Convention.

Most observers believe Byrd will maintain his strict silence until after the November election without coming out for either the Democratic nominee, Adlai Stevenson, or the Republican candidate, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

But yesterday Byrd did try to spike a movement by the newly formed Constitution party to wage a campaign for electoral votes for him as a vice presidential running mate to Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

A spokesman said Byrd had wired Ward A. Logan, Constitution party convention chairman in Texas, to have his name taken off the ballot there. The action came, the spokesman said, after Byrd was informed that a MacArthur-Byrd ticket had been filed in Texas. It was the first reaction from Byrd regarding the new party which was formed over the week end in Philadelphia. He had said previously only that he had "no contact with the group."

At the same time, the spokesman indicated today that Byrd also will seek to stop a move to have his name placed on the Virginia ballot as a running mate to MacArthur on a ticket sponsored by the America First party.

councilman made a few remarks, all of which conformed with the thought in mind that something had to be done and suggested an accountant be placed on the committee proposed by the mayor.

Members of the Council said they did not appreciate the fact the bus owners had not notified Mayor Studer or the Council prior to their making such a decision as to curtail the service.

Chester Wolfe, city counselor, was called upon to explain the action that could be taken. Mr. Wolfe explained, in accordance with the ordinance governing the franchise, that no action could be taken against the bus owners until after 60 days from the date the company had been notified the franchise had been violated.

Councilmen Give Opinions
Mayor Studer then followed the recommendation of the Council members for putting an accountant on the committee and named Mrs. Shirley Wagner and Arthur Morgan as members.

Recess by Council

During the ensuing discussion audience members were called upon for their ideas. After the subject had been bounced around, Mayor Herb Studer called for a 15-minute recess. At this time the Council members retired to the Mayor's office to discuss the proposal. Mayor Studer did not sit in on this meeting, as he said he wanted the Council to decide on the proposal without him.

When the councilmen returned to the chamber, Elmer Sumners, president pro-tem, read a statement whereby the majority of the council members endorsed the plan of the Mayor, but recommended the committee would hold hearings and meetings at such times the members of the council could attend. They also recommended the committee make a report to the council before the next regular council meeting which will be Monday night, Sept. 15.

As the councilmen took their seats after the recess, the roll call of the group was made. Councilman Woody Garrison, incorrectly understanding that the call was for a vote on the proposal, voted "no." He was informed it was the usual roll call of attendance and said "here."

Councilman T. J. McMillin, this morning stated he wanted it known he voted "no" on the proposal in the meeting held during the recess. "There were two 'no' votes," he said, "in the meeting."

Howard Not Present

Marvin Howard was not present in the meeting. It was brought out by Councilman Carlton Kelley of the Fourth Ward it had been recommended at the meeting of Aug. 18 Mr. Howard appear before the council at Tuesday's meeting.

Chester Wolfe, city counselor, reported a letter had been written to Howard to that effect.

Those in the audience who spoke during the discussion were all in accord that bus service was needed in Sedalia at night, Sundays and holidays. Several who talked were rather bitter, others were in a more cooperative mood in wanting something worked out for the benefit of all.

Speaking were: Jack L. Lobaugh, 1020 South Kentucky, a shop man; Rev. Edward R. Sims, 111 East Broadway, rector of the Calvary Episcopal Church; Fred Ferguson, 117 East Jefferson, an undertaker; Frank L. Hanigan, 505 East Fourth speaking in behalf of the First Methodist Church; Rev. Warren Neal, 209 West Broadway, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian Church; James L. DeWitt, 1109 East Tenth, shopman; Earl Paxton, 719 West Second, president of the Sedalia Federated Shop Crafts at the Missouri Pacific Shops; Mrs. Leon Mitchell, 116 West 20th, a housewife and mother; J. ## Council Passes Several New Ordinances at Tuesday Session

(By D. Kelly Scruton)

Sedalia's City Council conducted one of its longest meetings in years, Tuesday night, when routine business was transacted along with discussing the problems of the Sedalia Bus Co., curtailing service.

Two ordinances accepting improvement work done and materials furnished by the James W. Atkinson Construction Co., one for Sewer District 83, the other for District 89, were passed.

An ordinance accepting the work and materials furnished on resurfacing certain streets in Sedalia by the W. J. Menefee Construction Co., was approved.

Four ordinances providing for construction of District Sewers were passed. They were for Districts 84, 85, 86 and 87.

Two ordinances providing for curb and guttering and bringing streets to the proper grade were also passed. One was for curb and guttering on East Seventh from the east curb line of Emmett to the west curb line of Babcock on both sides of the street; the other was for curb and guttering on both sides of the street from the west curb line of Beacon to the State Fair Boulevard.

Another ordinance was given final passage for the construction of a four foot sidewalk on the east side of Quincy from 16th to 18th with the exception of 138.7 feet where sidewalks have already been provided.

The council passed a resolution to authorize the mayor, city clerk and finance committee to borrow $6,000 for two years at 2-per cent per annum from the Union Savings Bank to pay for a new street sweeping machine.

James W. Atkinson Construction Co. was awarded a contract to build a sewer in District 91, which is located from Montauk to Ohio avenue north to Morgan. The bid was $2,960, $35 lower than the engineer's estimate which was $2,995.

Bonds Were Burned

Elmer Sumners, chairman of the finance committee, and Clyde Swafford, a member, burned 14 old coupons on Armory bonds totaling $140, and a coupon on Hospital No. 2 bonds, amounting to $90; and five coupons on Public sewer bonds amounting to $50.

Under special committee reports, Swafford reported his committee, which was appointed to investigate a sterilizer for Hospital No. 2, has found that it is not necessary at this time. Swafford reported the cost was prohibitive and that at the present time the recommendations of the sterilizer at the Bothwell Hospital could also be used by Hospital No. 2.

To Trade Patrol Cars
Dr. Ira M. White, police committee, reported one of the old patrol cars had been wrecked fair week in a collision with a Sedalia bus and it would be cheaper to trade the car in on a new one than having the old one repaired, adding the upkeep from now until next year would be a great expense. The council approved trading the car to the W. A. Smith Motor Co. for a new Ford at the cost of $395. The estimate cost to repair and put the car in first class running condition was $498.

Reports of the various city officers were read and given approval by the council.

Under new business Councilman Carlton Kelley read a petition asking for street lights in the 1500 and 1700 block on West 11th. He also called attention to the Council the old street sweeper was not traded in on the new one and with a small expenditure on the old machine could be repaired and would be useful for alley work.

Swafford read two petitions asking permission for the property owners at 1914 West Fifth to enter the manhole sewer in that area and for George Bagby to permit his connecting with the manhole sewer at 11th and Limit.

Jail Needs Repair

Councilman J. T. McMillin reported a serious condition exists at the city jail building. A large beam across the ceiling to one wall was hanging due to the fact the wall was falling out. He was given permission for the committee to look into the matter and make necessary repairs.

Councilman Harry Berry reported on a condition at Main and Rissler Dairy where water stood on the sidewalk and gravel washed from their drive out onto the sidewalk. The matter was referred to the street and alley committee to take up with the Twelve Mile Road District, in connection with water which also stands in the street which is under the jurisdiction of the Road District.

Dr. White asked the City Engineer be instructed to place caution signs on Broadway, warning a street signal was in operation at Broadway and Engineer. The signs are to be located 300 feet each way from Engineer.

Aide For Engineer

Councilman Kelley reported City Engineer James J. Collins has been extremely busy and that it is necessary to have another man in the engineer's office to assist in surveying and drafting of sewer districts. The council voted to give Mayor Studer permission to secure additional help for Engineer Collins.

He also called attention to the taxi cabs parking in meter spaces on Lamine and said the city should have better cooperation on the part of the taxi people in stopping such practice. He pointed out the meter officers and police couldn't stand around all day watching these violations and suggested something be done.

Chief of Police Neighbors explained the meter men were supposed to handle the situation, but they could not be in this location all the time. However, he would instruct the meter men to be more careful in watching for these violations.

Councilman Woody Garrison then called attention to the continued double parking on Lamine by taxi cabs and pointed out this is a very bad hazard.

Patrol Area for Violations
Mayor Studer then instructed the Chief of Police to have the patrol cars drive around that area more often and arrest any violators who insist in violating the double parking and overtime parking laws.

Fred Ferguson asked the Council for relief for property owners in Sewer District 78. He explained that several property owners were being taxed for that sewer district when they were already hooked into a sewer in another district. He pointed out it looked as if it was "double taxation." Mr. Ferguson was informed by Mayor Studer that the matter would be referred to the sewer and sanitation committee for investigation and that if they had payed taxes previously, the matter would be discussed by the council. It was pointed out that these property owners had possibly been given permission to enter the sewer and were not taxed. If this was true they would be compelled to pay the district tax.

The bills of the city were then read and approved for payment. The bills totaling $29,083.44 were as follows: Fire Department $1,050.78; Public Buildings, $2,678.67; Sanitary Department, $562.03; Police Department, $1,554.62; Street and Alley Department, $4,326.87; Hospital No. 2, $198.87; Contingent Account, $1,862.27; Lights, Water, Bond and Miscellaneous $16,849.91.

68 Pettis Co. Cancer Deaths During 1951

Cancer deaths in Missouri climbed to an all-time high of 6,466 in 1951 and for the third successive year more men than women lost their lives to the disease.

There were 68 cancer deaths in Pettis County included in this tragic list.

The vital statistics report of the State Division of Health, just released to the Missouri Division of the American Cancer Society, shows 3,303 male and 3,153 female deaths from cancer in the state last year. This is an increase of 99 cancer deaths since the 1950 report.

Harry M. Dawdy, executive vice president of the Division, pointed out that along with the larger amount of men the total number of cancer deaths for the state includes many children and young people.

"There were 106 boys and girls under 20 years of age who died of cancer in 1951; 34 of these under 5 years old," he said and "61 young adults between the ages of 20 and 30."

"In the most productive years 1,981 men and women between 30 and 60 years old died of cancer. These were the years when many of them were raising and supporting families," he said. "This age group accounts for more than a third of last year's cancer deaths in Missouri."

"In the older group, from 60 years of age and on, there were 4,318 deaths from cancer."

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round Point 4 Is Simple Weapon Against Communism

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

(Note to Editors: While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by several distinguished guest columnists, today's being Stanley Andrews, technical cooperation administrator in the Department of State.

WASHINGTON—There are many weapons which the Free World can use to fight Communist aggression—military, political and economic weapons. But I believe history may well demonstrate that the most effective weapon we have in the struggle against Communism is the Point 4 program.

Like most things of fundamental greatness, Point 4 is very simple. It helps people to help themselves—by teaching and sharing America's scientific knowledge and technical skills with the peoples of the underdeveloped areas of the world.

Point 4 is not a product of our defense effort and it is not a substitute for defense, but Point 4 is no less a source of strength for the Free World.

Some of the countries with which the U. S. is cooperating through the Point 4 program lie directly in the path of Soviet expansion. In most of these underdeveloped areas the threat of Communism is not a military threat, and it cannot be met with military measures.

Guns are no defense against poverty, ignorance and unrest. In the underdeveloped areas the only sure defense against the spread of Communism and other forms of tyranny is a powerful, concentrated attack on disease and hunger and their evil consequences.

People-to-People Program
Point 4 is a new kind of diplomacy. Point 4 diplomats are dungaree and blue jeans diplomats—teachers, health officers, engineers, farm demonstration agents who work directly with the people in the villages and on the farms.

Point 4 is a people-to-people program. U. S. technicians working with technicians of other countries are not concerned with political problems. In the midst of anti-U. S. disturbances in the Near East, American and Iranian technicians continued to work side by side, trying to do a job that means more food, clean water, lower infant mortality, fewer deaths of mothers in childbirth.

Our work with the peoples of the Point 4 countries is very similar, in fact, to your own people-to-people efforts. Drew Pearson—the Friendship Train, the Tide of Toys, and the letter-writing campaign between the people of Italian descent in the United States and their relatives in Italy which helped swing the 1947 Italian elections for democracy.

Point 4 has been called idealistic. If Point 4 is idealism, it is hard-headed, practical idealism. There are sound economic reasons behind Point 4. Rising national income, more productive agriculture and greater industrial activity make other nations better customers for United States' products and commodities. They create markets for American businessmen and jobs for American workers.

Beyond self-interest, the motives for Point 4 are embedded deeply in our American democratic tradition.

The peoples of the underdeveloped areas of the world—in Asia, Africa, the Middle East, Latin America—are awakening after centuries of impotence and subjection.

UNCLE EF

Arch Nearbrite says he finds some of the campaign speeches confusing. It sounds at times as though the Democrats were running Stevenson against Hoover and the Republicans running Eisenhower against Truman.

It is in the tradition and the history of America that we help them. Point 4 is the vehicle on which scientific knowledge, technical inventions and material progress become traveling companions with our ideals, our hopes and aspirations for achieving real brotherhood among men.

Accomplishments of Program
What has Point 4 accomplished? More than 1,000 TCA technicians are overseas working with some 20,000 nationals in 35 countries. The native "counterparts" of our Point 4 workers are being taught the skills and knowledge of American technicians. For the basic principle of Point 4 is to train the peoples of the participating countries so that each country can take over its own programs.

For example, the Etawah agricultural project in India is now run entirely by Indians. In Liberia, Frank Pinder, an extension agent from Florida, has helped the Liberian farmers produce a cash crop by providing 24 cocoa seeds for two cents. Point 4 workers have reduced crop losses in Lebanon by showing the Lebanese citrus farmers modern ways of picking, shipping and marketing their crops. In Ecuador, Colombia and other Latin American countries health workers have almost eliminated the dread tropical disease Yaws. A new disease-resistant rubber tree has been developed in Latin America. Malaria is being brought under control in the Near East.

Perhaps I should close this guest column with a prediction on "the shape of things to come." I am willing to predict that the American people and the peoples of the Free World will turn more and more in the years to come to the Point 4 principle, not only as a potent weapon against Communism, but because technical assistance is the "diplomacy of the future." Even the Russians are imitating Point 4 while their propaganda attacks it.

And one more edition: Sawyer, the famed cartoonist character who is helping fight the locust plague in Iran will kill the blonde Russian agent, the locusts, and discover uranium in Southern Asia.

One day a group of neighborhood children were playing and Penny, who had some candy, passed it around.

Three-year-old Judy took a piece and in some way got choked on it. Judy's brother, Larry, who is almost eight, and Penny, eight, saw that something had to be done—the tiny girl was getting red in the face and they weren't sure what to do for her.

Judy's mother would know what to do, but the home was a whole block away. And so, Larry and Penny picked up the little choking girl and carried her the block to her mother who did know what to do—otherwise the story would have ended differently—Larry's little sister would have choked to death.—H.L.

The term "museum" derives from from a Greek word meaning "temple of the muses."

Project Pygmalion

By Grey MacMillan

Copyright 1952 by NEA Service, Inc.

VIII

I SLAMMED my palm down on the table, and jumped up. "If you came here to be insulting, you can leave now. Mission accomplished, as we used to say in the Air Force. I have a class down the hall, and I should be getting back. Saturday's my busy day."

She rose, and put a red wool scarf, of the type I believe is known as a fascinator, over her head. She tied the ends under that knobby white chin.

"Well, I didn't come here to be insulting, but if I was, then good! You got nerve, butting into my private life, telling my husband he's got brains, and he's gonna get somewhere some day. He had to lie about his education to get a job with Acme Truck, and he won't never be able to get into anything else. That's awright, there's plenty money in trucking. If only he don't waste his life setting around with these books you been showing at him."

"Look," I said, trying to speak quietly, "you must not be feeling well today. Go back to the bar where you came from and have a couple more drinks. I'll just forget you came—I'll never mention it to David. And I don't think you'll be ashamed of it tomorrow morning."

She picked up her coat and flung it over one arm. "That's what you think," she said. "I just had one little nip before I come here, to give me the backbone to tell you off. And I'm telling you again, I got friends, you know. I could send somebody around that wouldn't just talk. This friend of mine can be pretty tough. You just take my advice now, bub, and you'll stay outta trouble."

With this parting threat she left.

TIME barreled along after that, until all of a sudden Christmas was at our throats. I made Christmas cards, mailed gifts.

Then one afternoon a feeling akin to panic struck me as I clicked the door shut and sat down to look at my mail. Christmas Eve. This was to have been Kathy's and my first Christmas in our own house.

There was a letter in her handwriting. The envelope bore a New York postmark but no return address. Inside was a block print, which I recognized as her work, of a deer in the snow. And a printed signature—Kathleen Valois.

I prowled and pounced around the narrow rooms, hating her. Finally I threw on my stormcoat and boots and slammed out of the apartment.

I passed a vacant lot where a man was selling Christmas trees, and for lack of anything else to do I bought a scrawny, lopsided little spruce.

Cut down considerably and braced in a bucket, the tree suddenly took on a satisfyingly Christmassy shape. I tied Christmas cards to the branches with tinsel ribbon, taped more Christmas cards over the bucket, and stacked my presents under the tree.

As I undressed for bed, I loitered near the tree and examined cards. Abruptly, it struck me how many of them had pictures of tiny children or family groups.

People my age. People I'd gone to school with, people I'd known in the service. Here I was, 29, and I... The years stretched before me, the years of prissy bachelorhood. My head was pounding dully. I took two aspirins and went to bed at 9:30. As soon as I was down, seemed like I was more wide awake than I had been all day.

Suddenly the buzzer rang, with a loud, strident rasp that went crashing through the silent apartment. I leaped upright in bed, the hair on the back of my neck prickling my scalp.

"May I come up for awhile?" I thought he swayed a little.

"But certainly! Come on in! Here, I'll help you."

I hurried down the stairs and took one of the bundles.

"That's for you," said David, as he panted upwards. "I won it in a raffle. First time I ever won anything. A 25-pound turkey. I had it stuffed already."

"Swell! Hope the oven's big enough."

UNEASILY, I followed him into the living room. I went out to the kitchen and set the turkey down in the sink, and when I came back he had put down his heavy carton and stood in the middle of the floor, sagging forward and looking dazed.

"Your coat is wet through!" I exclaimed. "Even your hair is dripping! Where in the world have you been?"

He didn't answer, but sat abruptly on the couch as though his knees had given way. I put his coat on a hanger and hung it on the shower rod in the bathroom. "Dry your hair on this," I said, handing him a thick Turkish towel.

He rubbed his head abstractly. "I feel like a heel, waking you this way," he began.

"Oh, I wasn't asleep. Fact is, I was having a bad time. Glad you came. Why don't you just spend the night?"

"Sure you won't mind? I haven't any place else to go. I've even got all my clothes in that box." He gestured tiredly with one raw, cold-reddened hand.

THIS ominous statement from David Carlson made me realize he was in serious trouble, and to give him time to calm down. I said, "I'll unpack your clothes and hang them up then. They're probably damp too."

I knelt and untied the rope. Inside, on top of his clothes, was a camera, broken into several pieces. Amazed, I lifted it out of the box. "Did you know this was broken?"

"Yes, I know," he said. He rose agitatedly then, and paced back and forth, as though gathering himself to tell me what had happened. But instead he stopped in front of the Renou Little Girl, and stared at it for a long time. Presently I realized he had begun to cry, silently, his heavy shoulders shaking, the tears spreading over his weather-roughened cheeks.

I stood up and touched him on the elbow. "Go sit down," I said. "I'll get you something."

He stumbled over to the couch and sat down and buried his face in the towel. I poured two fingers of Scotch into a glass, put ice water in another glass, and set them on the coffee table in front of him. Then I took his clothes into the bedroom to hang them up, taking as much time as I could doing it.

When I came back into the living room, Dave had quieted somewhat, and I handed him a cigarette. His hands trembled so that he could not light it, so I lit one for him and put it in his mouth. His breath came in sobs and gulps like a child who has held in for a long time.

Finally, out of an unendurable curiosity, I asked cautiously, "What has happened?"

"She broke my camera!" he burst out. "She smashed it all to bits on the floor, right in front of my eyes, and she laughed. And her pal Bobo was there, and they were both cockeyed drunk, and the people downstairs threatened to call the police. Christmas Eve too! And me there with this turkey and waiting for her to come home. So I've left her, for good. And she just laughed, and went out with that guy for more beer. I could—I could kill her!" And he broke down again, sobbing incoherent words into the towel.

"Drink your Scotch," I reminded. "You haven't touched it. HE drank it hastily, and the waiter too. Then a reaction set in, and he began to shiver violently, his teeth chattering. I made him put on my baggy tweed smoking jacket."

"I'll build a fire," I offered. "And you can tell me about it if you wish. Go back to the beginning."

"Well, you see," he began, "I won the raffle down at work. This big turkey, like I told you. I didn't find out until this morning that I had the lucky number, and I got all steamed up, because me and Ida has never had Christmas at home. We always went over to her folks' house. And I thought this time we'd have our own turkey. So on the way home—I got off work early, 2 o'clock it was—I stopped at Pinay's and had it stuffed. Got some vegetables and stuff, and a pumpkin pie at the bakery. And I phoned her folks we weren't coming over tomorrow. When I got home, she wasn't there. So I figured I'd surprise her. I put all the stuff away and cleaned up the apartment some. And there was Christmas carols on the radio, and it was snowing, and I felt like—aw, you know how a guy feels on Christmas."

He paused, then said, "I guess I better go ahead and tell you everything. You wouldn't tell anybody about this, would you?"

"No, it's nobody else's business."

"Well, the worst part is that Ida's been gone! Around with this guy named Bobo. He tends bar at this place where she hangs out. She's been with him every night for months, practically, and gets in late, and sometimes she'll be so tight she goes to bed with her clothes on. When I raise Cain about it, she fights right back, and tells me he treats her like a woman wants to be treated. That makes me mad. He must be 40 if he's a day, been divorced twice over, and he used to be a fighter—middleweight. His face is all scarred, and he's got a big bear belly, and whiskers so thick his jaws look blue. You know what I mean?"

"How long has all this been going on?" I asked.

"Oh, eight or nine months. She began fooling around at that joint way last winter, and she stays every night till the place closes. Couple times I got so mad I left and rented a room at the Y, and stayed a night or two, thinking maybe she'd come to her senses."

"Isn't all this pretty expensive?" I put in.

"That's just it! She keeps me broke. Once I give her money to pay the gas bill she spent it on beer, and the company turned off the gas. I never know what she'll do."

I PUT more wood on the fire. "I should think," I remarked, "that you'd probably be driven to drink too, with all that going on."

He slapped at the air fiercely. "Not me. Not after I seen what it done—what it did—to my pop. I swore I'd never let drink get me like it did him. You oughta see him now. He's—well, he can't hardly talk any more."

"Let's get back to tonight," I interposed hastily.

"Oh, Well, it seems Marty's closed for the day and so Ida and Bobo been together all afternoon. When they come in I was just finishing cleaning the sink, and they was—they were—both pretty high. This Bobo lays down on the couch and says, 'Let's all have a beer.' And I guess it was the sight of him laying there like it was his own house that got me."

Russia Visitor Doubts Soviets Have A-Bomb

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
CHICAGO (AP)—"I don't believe Russia has one single atom bomb," Carlton S. Proctor, prominent New York engineer who has worked in Russia, declared today.

"I think every one of the atomic explosions in Russia was just a premature explosion, in an effort to produce a bomb."

Proctor is president of the American Society of Civil Engineers, one of 64 engineering societies celebrating a Centennial of Engineering opening here today.

He gave his views on Russia during an interview telling of U. S. engineers' vast accomplishments in the last 100 years.

(The White House has announced three atomic explosions in Russia, referring to the second one as "another atomic bomb," without amplifying further. Other sources have estimated Russia has a stockpile of 100 or many more A-bombs by now.)

Proctor declares it takes teamwork and co-operation to make an A-bomb work, and that Russians don't trust each other.

Such co-operation, he said, "is essentially impossible in Russia or any other totalitarian state. There is no possibility of one man trusting another and integrating his efforts with any other man."

"There is no reward for co-operation. The only reward is for exposing someone, even in your own family. Any combination of effort comes under suspicion as a combination against the dictatorship."

In 1930, Proctor worked on building Russia's second largest dam, at Svirstroy east of Leningrad. In World War II he was an Army engineer, a colonel, building the Persian corridor road from the Indian ocean to funnel supplies to Russia.

"The Russians have no confidence in their own engineers," he said, "and I have never met a Russian engineer who was a Communist who was any good."

Soviet jet planes are good, "but the Russians got the practical end of how to build them from Germans whom they took over."

"The Russians have brilliant physicists and mathematicians, brilliant purely in theory. In jet propulsion, they are probably ahead of us in theory. But theory alone doesn't produce an A-bomb, or an army, or morale."

"We've been bluffed and fooled into thinking the Russians have produced more than they have."

Beaman-Arator 4-H club recently met and planned a wiener roast and hayride for Sept. 3. Thirteen members were present and told of the awards they received at the fair.

The next meeting will be Sept. 24th.

Soviet-Chinese Unity Stressed Amid Threats

MOSCOW (AP)—Red China's leader Mao Tze-tung and Soviet Prime Minister Joseph Stalin emphasized Russian-Chinese unity in the face of "threats of new aggression in the Far East" as they exchanged greetings on the seventh anniversary of the World War II victory over Japan.

The lengthy telegrams sent by the leaders of the two huge Communist nations were published on the front page of the Communist party newspaper Pravda today. Both Stalin and Mao stressed that Soviet-Chinese friendship is "un-crushable."

Pravda in a lead editorial charged that Japanese reserve police troops are fighting in Korea. In his message to Stalin, Mao declared: "Now, when again Japanese militarism is being revived, when the aggressive forces of Japan again are lifting their heads, the un-crushable friendship and alliance between China and the Soviet Union are a firm guarantee of the prevention of a repetition of aggression from the side of Japan or any other state which should unite with Japan in acts of aggression, a firm guarantee of the maintenance of peace in the East and in the whole world."

Stalin said in reply: "The great friendship between the Soviet Union and the Chinese Peoples' Republic is a reliable guarantee against the threat of new aggression, a powerful pillar of peace in the Far East and the whole world."

Stalin asked Mao to accept the congratulations of the Soviet people and the Soviet Army. He ended by hailing the Chinese Peoples' Liberation Army and the "in-olable friendship" between the Chinese Peoples' Republic and the Soviet Union.

In its editorial Pravda said the American "policy of threatening" is to no avail in the face of Soviet-Chinese unity, which it described as growing and strengthening.

Big 7 Grid Teams Start Rough Work

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The rough work is starting early on Big Seven conference football practice fields.

The Nebraska Cornhuskers have already scrimmaged and will take their first test under game conditions Saturday.

Missouri and Kansas State planned hard-contact work Wednesday, including a taste of scrimmage.

Two K State players—center August Keller and halfback Veryl Switzer—suffered slight injuries in Tuesday's workout.

At Missouri coach Don Faurot tried out a No. 1 offensive backfield composed of Gaby Hook at quarter, Nick Carras and Jack Fox, halfbacks and Bill Rowkamp, fullback. Rowkamp came to Missouri from West Point last year.

One of Nebraska's players got a pat on the back from coach Bill Glassford. Glassford said Johnny Bordogna, a junior, showed vast improvement in both his passing and quarterbacking.

The Oklahoma backs concentrated on ball handling in an effort to improve their timing and avoid fumbling. The Sooner squad includes seven players who re-entered school after service with the 45th division.

At Iowa State, coach Abe Stuber looked over his 33-man squad for a kicker. Bob Cleveland, his top kicker, is recuperating from an appendectomy and won't work out for another week. Two other veterans aren't expected to show up until Sept. 10. Quarterback Dick Mann and center Jim Rawley both are attending reserve officers summer camps.

Five conference schools play their opening game Sept. 20. Oklahoma and Colorado start a week later.

Blackwell's First Game A Yank Win

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

The New York Yankees received a quick dividend on their $40,000 investment in Ewell Blackwell.

Five days after the purchase of the former National League star from the Cincinnati Reds, the Yankees Tuesday night sent Blackwell to the mound against the Boston Red Sox. The long, lean right-hander responded with a scoreless five-inning performance to rack up his first American League triumph.

Blackwell was not the overpowering pitcher he had been in his days as a big winner with the Reds, but he looked quite capable before bowing out for a pinch hitter. He permitted four singles, fanned four and walked three before retiring because of weariness and the humidity.

It was in the fifth, however, when the Yankees ganged up on Boston starter Sid Hudson for all their runs to win the nightcap, 4-0, after rookie Tommy Gorman had hurled an eight-hit 5-0 shutout over the Red Sox in the afternoon portion of the day-night doubleheader.

The two triumphs ran the Yankees' winning streak to five and increased their first-place margin over the idle Cleveland Indians to 3 1/2 games.

Brooklyn's Dodgers, the National League leaders, dropped a pair to Philadelphia's Phillies, 8-2 and 9-3, and were lucky to get out of the City of Brotherly Love in one piece. Two dozen Philadelphia hits plus splendid pitching by right-handers Robin Roberts and Karl Drews cut the Dodgers' first-place lead over the idle New York Giants to eight games.

Chicago's White Sox climbed into fourth place, vanishing the Detroit Tigers twice, 6-5 and 7-4. Rocco Krschick's two-run triple in the ninth won the opener. Marv Grism won his 11th in the nightcap. Washington's Senators, although held to three hits in each game, won both ends of a two-night win bill from Philadelphia, 3-2 in 10 innings and 5-0, to dump the Athletics into first place, only a half game in front of the Nats.

Mike Fomelles, the 20-year-old Cuban right-hander, pitched a one-hit shutout in his major league debut for Washington. A second-inning single by catcher Joe Asbroth prevented the youngster from becoming the first pitcher in modern times to pitch a no-hitter in his first big league game.

Blackwell received credit for a shutout victory although he needed help from another National League castoff, Johnny Sain. The ex-Boston Braves' right-hander permitted only one hit in the last four innings.

Knowing When Twilight Comes Is Vital In Tennis Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—The length of time between sunset and pitch darkness doesn't mean a great deal to the average person and there is no reason that it should. However, if you are thinking of running a tennis tournament it is a very good thing to know.

If there is going to be a really nasty incident in the course of a tournament, chances are high that it will arise when some player wants to be in the deciding set wants to keep on playing and his opponent claims he no longer can see to hit the ball. The decision always is a tricky one for the referee, but he can at least make an intelligent stab at the right answer if he knows his twilight.

There is a man here, a chipper retired naval engineer named Edward O. Cutler, who can take up a few tools and tell you at exactly what minute the sun will go down at any spot in the world on any given day in the year. Also he can tell you when it will become necessary to light the lamps.

Every year before the national championships begin, he sits down and draws up a chart showing precisely what the light conditions will be in the West Side Tennis Club Stadium minute by minute for the 10 days of play.

With his trusty chart at hand the official referee knows for example that the sun will duck behind the metropolitan hills today at exactly 6:24. That at 6:32 it will be necessary to halt play and that at 6:52 it will be as dark as the inside of a mule's stomach.

Thus armed, the referee is able to plan ahead. When things threaten to get sticky in an important match he simply draws out his chart and advises the umpire when to call it off right on the dot. This takes the umpire off the spot and forestalls a lot of arguments.

Cutler has been providing the chart as a hobby ever since 1939, when there was the granddaddy of a row about playing the final set of a match between Frank Guernsey of this country and Ferenc Puncce of Yugoslavia. The system's only weakness, as Cutler readily admits, is that all bets are off on a cloudy day.

Blackwell was not the overpowering pitcher he had been in his days as a big winner with the Reds, but he looked quite capable before bowing out for a pinch hitter. He permitted four singles, fanned four and walked three before retiring because of weariness and the humidity.

Chicago's White Sox climbed into fourth place, vanishing the Detroit Tigers twice, 6-5 and 7-4. Rocco Krschick's two-run triple in the ninth won the opener. Marv Grism won his 11th in the nightcap. Washington's Senators, although held to three hits in each game, won both ends of a two-night win bill from Philadelphia, 3-2 in 10 innings and 5-0, to dump the Athletics into first place, only a half game in front of the Nats.

Mike Fomelles, the 20-year-old Cuban right-hander, pitched a one-hit shutout in his major league debut for Washington. A second-inning single by catcher Joe Asbroth prevented the youngster from becoming the first pitcher in modern times to pitch a no-hitter in his first big league game.

Blackwell received credit for a shutout victory although he needed help from another National League castoff, Johnny Sain. The ex-Boston Braves' right-hander permitted only one hit in the last four innings.

Brooklyn's Dodgers, the National League leaders, dropped a pair to Philadelphia's Phillies, 8-2 and 9-3, and were lucky to get out of the City of Brotherly Love in one piece. Two dozen Philadelphia hits plus splendid pitching by right-handers Robin Roberts and Karl Drews cut the Dodgers' first-place lead over the idle New York Giants to eight games.

Miner Killed on First Shift After Memorial

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—A Du Quoin miner was killed on his first shift after the memorial holiday declared by John L. Lewis.

He was Roman Waller, 50, helper on a coal loading machine at the Peabody Coal Company's Majestic Mine.

In traditional mourning, his 450 fellow United Mine Workers quit work. Waller was buried under a rib of coal that popped loose as he was passing by.

Vecek Defends Actions That Halted Game

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Owner Bill Vecek of the St. Louis Browns, commenting on the Cleveland protest over a rain-shortened game here Labor Day that could cost the Indians the pennant, says he has nothing to cover up except a wet playing field.

The Browns won the second half of the doubleheader 2-1 when rain interrupted the game for a second time and the umpires called the contest.

The Indians had taken a 4-2 lead with three runs in the sixth but the Browns hadn't finished their turn at bat in the inning, and the score reverted to the fifth. Thus the second-place Indians dropped a half game further behind the league-leading New York Yankees.

Manager Al Lopez of Cleveland angrily protested to league headquarters that the patched canvas used to cover the field was in disgraceful condition and that the ground crew failed to obey the umpires and made no effort to cover the field the second time it rained.

The St. Louis owner said his ground crew set a new record of seven minutes in covering the field the first time it rained. The field was too far gone when the second downpour came, Vecek said, chiefly because so much of the water ran off the canvas when it was taken up.

Vecek said he telephoned Hank Greenberg, general manager of the Indians, yesterday and must have wanted to ask him something but can't recall what it was. Vecek said Greenberg "really doesn't believe" Vecek delayed the ground crew in covering the field, as Lopez charged.

The Browns owner said he asked Greenberg whether he would give the Browns a new tarpaulin if they went to Cleveland. Vecek didn't report Greenberg's reply, but said Al Greenberg wanted to talk about was rain, canvas, and low blows from fate and other quarters.

Vecek quoted Greenberg as saying: "You have supplied the spark that will keep us going."

"With the positions reversed," Vecek admitted, "I, too, would be unhappy."

Corriedales Gain Favor As Show Breed

Seventy four head of Corriedales ranked second in numbers among the breed shows of the 1952 Missouri State Fair sheep shows. Quality of the breed was high and it was a top show according to Glenn Chappell, Greencastle, judge of the sheep exhibits.

Albert Dyer, Columbia, superintendent, stated that the gain in popularity of the breed in Missouri is steadily increasing.

by A. B. Warren
BANG'S DISEASE (BRUGELLOSIS)

This is a widespread infectious disease. Animals are usually infected by eating or drinking contaminated feed or water. This is the cause of undulant fever in man, contracted by drinking raw milk from infected cows.

The only noticeable symptom may be the abortion of a premature calf which usually takes place between the fifth and eighth months of pregnancy. Retained afterbirth, vaginal discharge, sterility, decreased milk production and weak calves are generally associated with the disease. At the present time there is no treatment for this disease.

Prevention consists of calfhood vaccination and good management with proper sanitation. Calfhood vaccination should be carried on as a regular program. The vaccine depends upon live organisms. We think that the vacuum dried vaccine is far superior to any other kind because it will remain potent and have a higher count of living organisms at time of use than any other vaccine.

Vaccinated calves do not spread infection to unvaccinated ones. The cost is 90¢ per dose. Even though a lower price vaccine is available, you will be more certain with the best.

Attend State Meeting Of Deaf Association

Mr. and Mrs. John Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mowrey went to Columbia Friday where they attended the convention of the Missouri Association of the Deaf. They returned home Monday night.

Bob Moon also attended part of the convention sessions. The convention is held every three years, but another convention will be held in 1934 because it is the 50th anniversary of the Missouri Association of the Deaf. It will be held in St. Louis where the first convention was held.

Truman Looks Gleefully To New Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman looked forward eagerly to his next "whistle stop" tour after his first strenuous, nine-speech, two-day stumping trip for Adlai Stevenson, whom he called a "wonderful candidate."

So enthusiastic was the President over his reception at rear platform talks in West Virginia yesterday that he assured crowds he is already thinking of campaigning for the Democrats again in 1956.

Truman's scheduled dedication of the Hungry Horse Dam in Western Montana Oct. 1 likely will turn into another, longer "give 'em hell" tour of the interior by train. And he is ready to keep his special train running after that right up until election time.

It's up to the Democratic National Committee to pick up the check, as it did on the Labor Day trip to Milwaukee, from which the President returned last night outwardly confident that the cost was worthwhile. The committee paid his transportation costs, including 10 first-class tickets for his bullet-proof private car and 30 minutes of radio network time.

Truman opened up on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee. At Milwaukee he called him the "lonely, captive candidate" of GOP "special interests."

And at Parkersburg, W. Va., yesterday he called him a "spokesman for selfish politicians" willing to risk atomic war with Russia by loose talk about liberating the enslaved peoples of Eastern Europe.

Truman said one of Eisenhower's "masterminds-aides" said he referred to John Foster Dulles—"is perfectly willing to have the Republican party and the Republican candidate say things that increase the risk of war, simply in order to get votes."

The President called this "cruel, gutter politics."

Dulles, asked to comment by a reporter in New York, said:

"Last week in a debate with me, Mr. Averell Harriman, speaking for the Democratic party, said that our Republican program of liberation had been 'cribbed' from Democratic policies. Now President Truman says that liberation is 'gutter politics.' I wonder whether they got their wires crossed."

Truman, referring to Republican talk of rolling the Iron Curtain back to the Soviet border, said, "Surely the Republican candidate must know the Kremlin walls will not come tumbling down from a few blasts on a campaign trumpet."

While he said he thought foreign policy should be kept out of the political campaign, Truman challenged the GOP to make it an issue.

"I'll meet them on any platform and I'll make them jump off that platform before I get through," he said.

Correspondents aboard Truman's campaign train noted an increasing enthusiasm on his part for Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee to succeed him. At Clarksburg, W. Va., Truman told a train-side crowd:

"If you will just listen to what he (Stevenson) has to say, you will find that he stands four-square on the Democratic platform, and that when you make him president the forward-looking steps which the Democratic party has taken in the last 20 years will be continued."

Earlier at Crestline, O., he said Stevenson's election would assure continuance "down the road of good times for everybody."

DeMolays Back Into Harness; Attend Conclave

After a hot summer vacation of rest and work, the Sedalia Chapter of DeMolays has gone back into action.

The first thing on the list for the DeMolays was a district conclave held at the newly opened chapter at Independence on Aug. 30. At this conclave the boys of the western section of the state discussed many ideas which will make the DeMolays better than ever.

There were lighter moments at the conclave, too, a gala banquet which was served by the Job's Daughters chapter, and swimming in the afternoon when one of the men interested in the DeMolays offered his pool to the boys. When the meeting was over, the DeMolays were given their choice of either going to a dance or more swimming.

The boys who attended this conclave are: Bill Williams, J. M. Maxwell, Gary Johnson, Kurman Riley, Marvin Bohon and Don Rapp.

Bill Williams was elected to the highest office in this district, Kurman Riley to the office of second preceptor; Marvin Bohon, sixth preceptor; Don Rapp, aide; J. M. Maxwell, almoner; Gary Johnson, junior steward.

The DeMolays were accompanied by William Matthews, Howard Gwinn, O. R. Cox and J. W. Wheatly.

Fire Sweeps Freight And Kills Two Men

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Fire swept through the Norwegian freighter Hopeville early today and the Coast Guard said two men were killed and four burned.

The fire raged for two hours before it was extinguished by fire fighting equipment from Norfolk, the Coast Guard and the Navy.

The dead were not immediately identified.

The 440-foot, 5,300-ton Hopeville arrived in Norfolk yesterday with a cargo of manganese ore and mahogany logs. A night watchman at the dock discovered the fire, whose origin was not determined.

Marilyn Monroe, center, screen actress, said she was "really very hurt" because the army didn't like the picture. With Marilyn in the photo, made at a beauty pageant in Atlantic City, N. # Miss America Hopefuls Play Step-Child Roles to Marilyn ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Fifty-two Miss America beauties take over center stage tonight after playing wallflower roles to bosomy, blonde screen star Marilyn Monroe yesterday.

The pretty pretenders to the coveted crown compete for all-important points in preliminary beauty and talent contests in Convention Hall.

A third will appear in evening gowns, a third in bathing suits and the rest will show the judges they can do more than look lovely by singing, acting or dancing.

There will be more of the same tomorrow night and Friday night until each girl has had a chance to appear in all three contests. The finals will be held Saturday night.

The girls were introduced to a cheering crowd of 150,000 in a colorful parade along the boardwalk yesterday but Miss Monroe's face and fortune filled most of the camera lenses.

Marilyn Monroe Has Come Up From 5c to $3,000 Per Month

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What do beauty contest queens seek in a husband? Handsomeness and wealth aren't important, they say. He must be sincere.

Time was when glamor girls only went for men who were adonis or loaded with dough, or both. The gals are now looking for elements of character, according to my survey of nine beauty winners.

Surveying beauties is not bad work, especially when they are attired in flesh-colored bathing suits. That's how the nine were dressed (or undressed, according to how you look at it) for their roles as Martian Amazons in "Abbott and Costello Go to Mars." The gals were selected from the Miss Universe contest for a chance at movie success.

Questioned about what they wanted in their future husbands, they replied:

Miss New Jersey, Ruth June Hampton of Merchantville: "I want him to be sincere, ambitious and have good character. He should be a typical man, not a pretty boy. I like rugged men."

Miss Germany, Renate Hoy of Berlin—"First of all, he should have sterling character. Secondly, he should have enough money so we don't starve. I would like a man tall, dark and brown-eyed, or tall, blonde and blue-eyed."

Miss Louisiana, Jeanne Thompson of Baton Rouge—"The main thing I want in a man is sincerity. There is too much insincerity in the world, and especially in Hollywood where it is taken for granted."

Miss Michigan, Judy Hatula of Detroit—"I want a man who is tall, broad-shouldered, handsome, wealthy, intelligent, an actor and with the same religion that I have. Of course, I won't find a man like that. So the main things I'll look for are sincerity, faithfulness and honesty. I really want a man who will keep our family together."

Miss Sweden of 1951, Anita Ekberg of Malmö—"I want a man who will look at me and like me. I don't mind if he looks at other women; he wouldn't be normal if he didn't. But I don't want him to like other women. He should be handsome, but that isn't essential. The main things are that he should be smart, have a sense of humor and like to do crazy things, as I do."

Miss Welcome to Long Beach, Jeri Miller—"The most important thing is compatibility. We should have understanding and respect for each other. He should be tall, but not necessarily handsome. Wealth is desirable but not essential."

Miss U. S. A., Jackie Loughery of Brooklyn—"I don't care if he's tall or handsome, just so he's rugged. I'd like him to be in show business, because that's what I'm interested in. He doesn't have to be a college graduate, but he does have to have something on the ball."

Miss Hawaii, Elza Edsman of Honolulu—"He'd have to be athletic; I love athletic men. Also intelligent and the life of the party. He should be tall, dark with dark hair, but not necessarily handsome."

Miss Montana, Valerie Jackson of Missoula—"He's sincere, truthful, happy, handsome, helpful around the house, loves dancing and sports. He's also 6 feet 3, weighs 207 pounds and —"

Valerie had a pretty good blueprint of the guy. She explained that she has already found and married him. He's Air Force Lt. Alan Jackson, currently of Korea.

The standard low and high water levels of Lake Erie are 570 and 575.11 feet above mean tide level at New York City.
